

Wish List:

If you were to get EVERYTHING you want at the end of a divorce litigation, what would those things be?

A law firm will never guarantee that you will get everything on your list, but we do need to know what is most important to you (and your children).

Things go fast, especially during a hearing, and your lawyers MUST know what your specific wants and needs are.

This will likely be a work in progress as you may change your mind many times.

Keep a list and review it often
